

Eric L. Ferraro
Assistant Commissioner
Integrated Award Environment (IAE)

Eric Ferraro leads the Integrated Award Environment (IAE) e-government shared services, within the Federal Acquisition Service (FAS). He is responsible for operations and modernization of the Integrated Award Environment and establishing the U.S. General Services Administration's (GSA's) Integrated Common Acquisition Platform to enable greater acquisition analytics capabilities, reduced system duplication, and greater use of user-centric design and expert decision support.

Eric joined GSA in July of 2015 after nine years at the Department of the Navy, where he was project director for the Navy's E- Business Systems. Prior to joining the civilian Federal service, Eric worked for IBM Business Consulting Services and PricewaterhouseCoopers, where his primary responsibility was supporting the Navy's Standard Procurement System Implementation and Operation. Eric is a retired Navy Supply Corps Officer.

Eric earned his BSE in Biomedical and Electrical Engineering at Duke University and his MBA at the Darden Graduate School of Business Administration at the University of Virginia.
